A STEAMER SUPPOSED TO BE LOST.—ROCKLAND, NOV. 17, 1854.—A passenger by steamer Rockland reports the arrival at Lele au Haut on Tuesday, 9th inst., of a screw steamer in distress: pumps cloady, 5th feet of water in the hold, and disabled in machinery. Temporary repairs were made, pumps cleared, &c., and on Freday, the 10th Cite day previous to the severe gale,) she sailed for Halifax to repair. Our informant, in view of her apparently disabled condition, considers it impossible that she can have outlived the storm of Saturiay. The steamer was purchased at Philadelphia, to be run between St. Johns and Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.—Correspondence of the Boston Journal.

A word to Liquer Selliers and Liquor Drinkers.—At the present price of good brandy it is impossible that it can be retailed at a profit at 10 cents a glass, an no wholesome brandy can be sold at 6 cents, without, serious loss. It is therefore obvious that the tavern keeper and restaurateur cannot afford to supply their customers with pure coganc, otard, or any other door cable brand, at the present retail prices. They can, how ever, obtain a purer liquor than brandy—a liquor pronounced by the highest chemical and medical authority the most healthful in the world, at less than the price of fair brandy. (bottles included.) and make 100 per cent upon it at 6 cents a glass. Need we say that the article in question is WOLFE'S scheidam aromatic schuappe pronounced by three thousand of the medical faculty of the United States.
